

Professor Ruth Plato-Shinar

Professor Ruth Plato-Shinar is a full professor of Banking Law and Financial Regulation.

She is the author of the book "The Banks' Fiduciary Duty" (The Israel Bar Association, 2010), on which a few important precedents of the Israeli Supreme Court are based.

Her book "Banking Regulation in Israel: Prudential Regulation vs. Consumer Protection" (Wolters Kluwer, 2016) has invoked high interest among regulators and policy makers in various countries and was translated into Mandarin.

She co-edited a book on "Fiduciary Duties in the Israeli Law (Nevo, 2016). In addition, she was offered by the former Chief Justice of the Israeli Supreme Court, Prof. Aharon Barak, to write the second edition of his book "The Nature of a Bill".

The body of work of Prof. Plato-Shinar projects a strong consumer protection approach, recognizing the need for a wider protection for banking customers. She emphasizes the huge disparity of power between the bank and the average customer, and calls for curbing the banks' financial and political clout by imposing strict ethical norms on the banks in their relationship with their customers. Her studies have bestowed upon her a few prizes and grants, including a special award of the Canadian Government for her contribution to developing the social responsibility of banks, and the Jean Monnet Center of Excellence Research Grant for her work on consumer protection in a world of digital payments.

Professor Plato-Shinar has been invited as a visiting/research scholar to prominent institutions, such as Harvard Law School, Kings College London, UCL London, The Swiss Institute of Comparative Law, Max Planck Institute for Private Law, and more.

She is a member of the Advisory Board at the Asian Institute for International Financial Law (AIIFL) at Hong Kong University; and a member of the Advisory Council at the Center for Commercial Law Studies (CCLS) in Queen Mary University, London.

In addition, she is a researcher at the Van Leer Institute, where she coordinates the field of Banking Regulation.

Professor Plato-Shinar is a frequently invited speaker in academic symposia and professional conferences. As the Director of the Center for Banking Law and Financial Regulation, which she established at the Netanya Academic College, she has organized numerous conferences on banking and financial issues that were in the spotlight of public debate.

Professor Plato-Shinar holds several public positions. She is the Chairperson of the Advisory Committee of the Commissioner of Credit Data Sharing; Chairperson of the Advisory Committee of the Supervisor of Financial Service Providers; Deputy Chairperson of the Advisory Committee of the Supervisor of Capital Markets Insurance and Savings; a member of the Advisory Committee of the Governor of the Bank of Israel; and a member of the License Committee of the Supervisor of Banks. Formerly she served on the Board of the Government Class Actions Fund, and was a member of the Advisory Committee of the Israeli Minister of Finance.

Prof. Plato-Shinar devotes a portion of her time to public activity and community affairs. She is a member of the Public Committee of Maale (a ranking body for corporate social responsibility); and a member of the Academic Committee of the Jerusalem Center for Ethics, where she also serves as the Co-Director of the Ethics in Finance Section.
