

Prof. Moshe Gelbard

Prof. Moshe Gelbard serves as the vice president and rector of Netanya Academic College since October 2022.

In the years 2018-2021 Prof. Gelbard served as the dean of the NAC law school and before that (2015-2018) as vice dean.

Prof. Gelbard is an expert in contract law and he specializes in the field of uniform contracts.

He holds a doctorate (Ph.D.) from Bar Ilan University and a master's degree (LL.M.) from the University of Brussels (V.U.B.).

In the years 2006-2018, in addition to his academic work, Prof. Gelbard served as a member (judge) of the Uniform Contracts Tribunal of Israel.

Prof. Gelbard published many articles and studies in his areas of expertise and was involved in legislative procedures of amendments to the Uniform Contracts Law in the Knesset. He lectures regularly at academic and professional conferences, including at the Institute for the Training and Further Education of Judges of the Israeli Judiciary. Prof. Gelbard lectures and participates in academic conferences in the USA, England and Europe and is a member of the Society of European Contract Law (SECOLA).